

MOST POPULAR

MORNING EDITION

FOLLOW LOCAL BUSINESS NEWS THROUGHOUT THE DAY
with the Morning and Afternoon Edition newsletters

MORNING EDITION

Broward foreclosure lawyer David Stern disbarred

Jan 10, 2014, 7:21am EST

INDUSTRIES & TAGS Legal Services

SHARE Email Twitter LinkedIn Facebook Google+

Order Reprints Save Article Print

Shaun Bevan
Digital Producer
South Florida Business Journal

The Florida Supreme Court this week disbarred David J. Stern for allegedly failing to supervise employees accused of improperly processing thousands of foreclosures for lenders.

The Broward County lawyer, who once operated the state's largest foreclosure practice, was also ordered to pay $49,125 in costs to the Florida Bar, according to the Sun Sentinel.

The so-called robo-signing scandal caused some banks to temporarily halt foreclosure filings in late 2010 as they feared homeowners were losing their rights to due process.

Stern made millions in what became known as a "foreclosure mill," the Sentinel reports. He shut down his Plantation office after the scandal surfaced.

His disbarment is effective Feb. 6.

Want South Florida Legal Services news in your inbox?
Sign up for our free email newsletters.

SUGGESTED READING

-  TECHNOLOGY
Broward County passes new rules for Uber, taxis

-  RESIDENTIAL REAL ESTATE
Miami Beach mansion under construction sold for $20M

-  SPORTS
Trump faces rejection from Miami-Dade on Key Biscayne golf course offer

-  COMMERCIAL REAL
Massive Miami Worldcenter project slated for
-  This one reason alone makes a balance transfer...
NextAdvisor
-  RESIDENTIAL REAL
Kolter to start construction go Boca Raton town

We've launched a new article page.

We've improved our reading experience to better serve you. You can take a quick tour to see how we've improved.

Take a 4-Step Tour Email Me Instead